SUBJECT: SENIOR CUSTOMER SUCCESS MANAGER ENTERPRISE — FRANCE · GABRIEL VIDEIRADear Fayçal, dear Shardene,

Your clients run experiments to grow. I have spent my career on both sides of that table, and I would like to bring both to your Enterprise team.

On the client side: 11 years of web analytics and A/B testing. As co-founder and managing director of the digital agency Bee4, I worked as a web analytics consultant for around 50 clients: tracking plans, dashboards, conversion audits, and A/B testing programmes run with AB Tasty, Kameleoon, Optimizely and Google Optimize. I know what your clients go through when a test is inconclusive, when tracking breaks, or when a team needs to prove its roadmap to its management. And I know your platform as a user, not only as a seller.

On the partner side: Customer Success for an Enterprise account. From 2024 to 2026, I was Customer Success Manager for MAZDA Motor Europe at SGS&Co: a €3M-a-year account of digital projects, managed in English across 25 countries, where I also kept my role as web analytics consultant. Business reviews with European leadership, escalations, a 15-person internal and offshore team to orchestrate, and an account to grow. Before that, at Bee4, renewing and expanding client contracts was my job as much as my business: Groupama stayed with us for eight years.

Why I'd still be a great fit. My Customer Success experience comes from agency and services rather than from a SaaS company. I see it as an advantage for your clients: I know how to turn a platform into business outcomes, which is what an Enterprise client actually renews. I will learn the VWO/AB Tasty playbooks, customer health tools and NRR routines quickly, as I did with my recent RNCP certification in AI & No Code.

Your values describe how I like to work. We bring client satisfaction : it has been my job for 15 years. We are impactful : as a founder, I was accountable for every result. We go above and beyond : the same reflex that pushes me to analyse the data before a business review. One team, one dream : I have always worked at the crossroads of sales, product and delivery.

AB Tasty and VWO joined forces because half of the loop was never enough. I would be glad to show you how I can cover the whole loop for your Enterprise clients, from the first data point to the renewal.

I am available immediately and based in the Paris area. I look forward to discussing this with you.

Kind regards,

Gabriel Videira
